Terms of Reference for the Research Study on
'Data-Driven Governance in Sindh: Assessing Institutional Capacity for Evidence-
Based Policy Making,

1. Background and Introduction

- 1.1 In recent years, governments across the world have increasingly recognized the importance of data-driven governance for improving public sector performance, enhancing transparency, and enabling evidence-based policy making. The effective use of data supports informed decision-making, efficient allocation of resources, and improved service delivery.
- 1.2 The Government of Sindh has undertaken various initiatives to strengthen digital governance, management information systems, and data collection mechanisms across different sectors. However, challenges remain in terms of data quality, integration, accessibility, institutional capacity, and utilization of evidence in policy formulation and planning processes.
- 1.3 While substantial amounts of administrative and sectoral data are generated by government departments, there is limited understanding regarding the extent to which such data is systematically analyzed and incorporated into policy and development planning decisions.
- 1.4 Assessing institutional capacities for evidence-based policymaking is essential to identify gaps in data governance systems, strengthen institutional arrangements, and promote a culture of data-informed decision-making across government institutions.
- 1.5 This study aims to assess the current status of data-driven governance in Sindh, evaluate institutional capacities for evidence-based policy making, and propose recommendations for strengthening data governance and policy planning mechanisms.

2.1 Objectives of the Study

The primary objective of the study is to assess the institutional capacity of public sector organizations in Sindh for utilizing data and evidence in policy formulation, planning, and decision-making processes.

2.2 Specific Objectives

- i. Assess the current use of data in planning and decision-making processes within selected Government of Sindh departments.
- ii. Identify institutional and technical challenges affecting evidence-based policymaking.
- iii. Examine existing data management and information systems used by selected departments.
- iv. Review good practices in data-driven governance relevant to Sindh.

- v. Develop practical recommendations for strengthening evidence-based decision-making in government institutions.

3 Demographics:

The study will cover selected public sector institutions and departments of the Government of Sindh involved in planning, policy formulation, service delivery, and monitoring functions.

The target stakeholders will include:

- a) Officials of Planning & Development Department
- b) Officials of provincial government departments
- c) Monitoring & Evaluation units
- d) Information Technology and data management personnel
- e) Development partners and policy experts
- f) Researchers and academic institutions

4 Scope of Work:

The Research & Training Wing (P&DD) intends to hire an individual consultant to conduct the study covering the following aspects:

- 4.1 Review existing policies and institutional arrangements related to data management and policy planning in selected government departments.
- 4.2 Assess current practices of data collection, management, and utilization for policy and planning purposes.
- 4.3 Identify major institutional and technical challenges affecting the use of evidence in decision-making.
- 4.4 Conduct consultations with key stakeholders including:
  - Planning & Development Department
  - Selected Line Departments
  - MIS/IT Units
  - Policy Experts
- 4.5 Review selected national and international good practices in data-driven governance.
- 4.7 Develop practical policy recommendations to strengthen evidence-based policymaking in Sindh.

5. Time Frame:

The study is expected to be completed within 2 months from the date of effectiveness of the contract. The detailed timeline for submission of reports is provided in the reporting section.

6. Methodology:

- 6.1 The consultant will propose a detailed methodology demonstrating a clear understanding of the assignment. The methodology may include:

- i. Desk review of policies, reports, legal frameworks, and previous studies related to data governance and evidence-based policy making.
- ii. Institutional assessment of selected government departments.
- iii. Key Informant Interviews (KIIs) with policymakers, senior government officials, data managers, and development partners.
- iv. Stakeholder consultations and focused discussions.
- v. Comparative review of national and international best practices in data-driven governance.
- vi. Analysis of institutional capacities, data systems, and governance structures.
- vii. Use of appropriate qualitative and quantitative analytical techniques.

7. Reporting Requirements and Time Schedule for Deliverables

The consultant shall submit progressive periodic deliverable reports for review to the client during the course of their assignment
